Energy Security & Government Energy Management
Tracks A & B offer specially targeted workshops addressing the interests and needs of professionals involved in energy management within the U.S. federal government.

Energy Manager’s Summit
Tracks C & D concentrate on commercial and industrial energy management industries across a broad range of topics, including success stories, energy efficiency programs, selling energy to non-energy professionals, and many more.

International Live-stream
This new conference track allows international speakers to present their latest case-studies, projects, and new developments. Each session will be live-streamed via Facebook to AEE members worldwide. Watch live at: facebook.com/AssociationofEnergyEngineers

High Performance Communities
Track G explores the growing global trend to move college campuses, community neighborhoods and even entire cities to levels of energy and emissions performance that approach near-zero impacts.

Renewable Energy & Sustainable Development
Track K highlights the critical topics centered around the growing need for renewable energy and sustainable development on a global scale.

Emerging Energy Trends
Track L covers some of the biggest trends in the energy industry, including blockchain, bitcoin, energy storage, and policies with proven results in effective carbon reduction.

Attend the Conference to Earn
1.2 CEU | 12 PDH | 2.4 AEE Credits
The conference is your chance to learn about the latest developments from commercial, industrial, institutional and government sectors. It provides you with multiple opportunities for networking with your peers, or meeting with potential vendors and business partners.

Energy Basics

Track E tackles various topics vital for training new energy managers and continuing the education of high-level professionals.

Energy Services

Track F encompasses a wide range of energy service topics, including commissioning, master planning, measurement and verification, and energy performance.

Industrial Energy Management

Tracks H & I combine presentations that focus on improving energy usage, and management in industrial applications.

The Better Plants Program

Track J focuses on the interests of the US Department of Energy’s Better Buildings Program, its members and partners.

Big Data & IoT

Track M takes a high level look at Big Data and IoT, with a focus on what energy professionals need to know about analytics, quantum computing, data centers, and more.

Energy Management Around the World

Track N allows international energy professionals to present applications, case studies and success stories that touch on the critical global energy topics of the year.

Industry Leading Companies

Exhibit at AEE World
Helping build business relationships is one of the Association’s core values, and AEE World Expo is one of our favorite ways to connect industry and decision-makers looking for products services and solutions.

Build and Strengthen Your Brand
Additional advertising and sponsorship opportunities are available that allow your company to build and strengthen your brand, while showing commitment to the attendees during the event.

Gain Additional Awareness
Present technical papers, product applications and customer success stories to potential prospects at the exhibitor forum and poster sessions. Register early to reserve your space. Located in the expo hall, they are free to attend, and very popular with both conference and expo attendees.
